Earning College Credits in High School: Dual Credit, Start College Now and FVTC Academies

Students earning college credit while in high school can receive accommodations. This document explains the process for requesting disability accommodations for Dual Credit, Start College Now and our Academies.

Dual Credit: Courses are taken at your high school and are taught by a high school teacher

Accommodation Process: If students would like to earn FVTC/college credit, please send a copy of the IEP/504 plan to Disability Services. Accommodations for college credit will be determined and communicated from the FVTC Disability Services office to the high school. The high school staff will implement the approved accommodations.

*Non-typical post-secondary accommodations include: modified curriculum, assignments, tests and grading; notes and use of books for all tests; re-taking exams, extended and/or unlimited time on assignments and 1:1 paraprofessionals in the classroom

Start College Now and Academies: Courses are taught at an FVTC campus by FVTC instructors

Accommodation Process: The student taking classes needs to reach out to FVTC Disability Services to request accommodations. Through the interactive process, a Disability Services Instructor will determine appropriate accommodations and an accommodation plan will be created.

*Students are encouraged to request accommodations as soon as possible. Accommodations are not retroactive.
